ADVERTISING DESIGNED FOR MOBILE DEVICE

Tap into a growing audience using mobile devices. If the experts are correct, by 2015 there will be more local searches done from smartphones than from PCs. With a mobile responsive web page, your business will be ready to capitalize on this growing market!

Don't penalize your mobile customers.

Although most smartphones can display full websites for the most part, the navigation and browsing experience is typically subpar for mobile users. If your website creates friction for its users then your customers may end up jumping over to a competitor's site.

Display information at a glance for your customers on the go. Most users on mobile devices are looking for your phone number, location, business hours, and special deals such as coupons you may be offering. With a mobile site, you can quickly and easily provide them with the information they need to make a decision.

80% of customers research online before purchasing in a 10-20 mile radius

Nearly $\frac{3}{4}$ of mobile users say they're more likely to revisit mobile-friendly sites.

"If a site works well on a mobile phone, I'm more likely to return to that site in the future."
